Business of the Banks Affected by the Recent Embargo on Transportation.

Wheat Was Very Firm Early in the Day, but Reports of Lower Markets Abroad Caused Weakness Later-Corn Follows Wheat.

MONEY AND STOCKS,

Business of the Associated Banks-Effect of the Street-Railway Blockade, The clearings of the six associated banks yesterday amounted to $638,257.94; balances, $72,275.69. For the corresponding date of last year the clearings were $701,885.98; balances, $56,481.07. The four days of the street-railroad blockade have had an effect on deposits, greatly reducing the receipts of down-town merchants. Now that travel has been resumed it is expected that traffic will meet with its due reward. NEW YORK QUOTATIONS. At New York, yesterday, money on call was easy, ranging from 1 to 3 per cent., closing offered at 11/2 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 412 @6 per cent. Sterling exchange was quiet and steady at $4.83% for sixty-day bills and $4.85% for demand.

The total sales of stocks were 371,597 shares, including the following: Atchison, 22,275; Chicago Gas, 15,400; Erie, 16,640; Louisville & Nashville, 4,650; Missouri Pacific. 5,050; Northwestern, 10,841; North American, 3,360; New England, 28,080; Reading. 13,200; Richmond & West Point, 13,534; St. Paul, 33,400; St. Paul & Omaha, 6,880; Union Pacific, 14,460, The stock market was in the main comparatively quiet, with a dropping tendency during most of the time, and the operastocks and immaterial changes for the rest. The death of the heir-presumptive to the British throne had its influence in London this morning and there was great expectation on the part of the bearish traders that the demoralization of the foreign markets in consequence of this event would be reflected here by liberal sales for the foreign account. In a measure this was realized, but the dealings of stocks from foreign sources were easily absorbed and while they gave a heavy temper to the earlier dealings they had little influence later in the day, and the stocks which have an internal market were in the main no weaker than the remainder of the list. The principal domestic influence in making lower prices was the effort of the "bears" to make uneasiness over the occurrences at the meeting of the advisory board of the Traffic Association. The weakness in Missouri Pacific may be fairly attributed to this feeling. The market, however, was rather unsettled all day long. After the opening decline, which extended to 1 per cent. in Missouri Pacific, 1%o in Sugar and fractional amounts in the rest of the list, there was a firm tone during the forenoon. Later prices generally settled away and failed to rally at any time. The movement, however, was slow, and in most stocks amounted to small fractions only. The industrials were firm, and Sugar, after its marked loss at the opening, actually scored a fractional advance during the day. The strong point in the market was the Chesapeake & Ohio stocks, which showed the most pronounced strength, while the common was specially active. The general list was unusually barren of feature, and while the low-price shares were in many cases active they were moved within narrow limits and the final changes are generally insignificant. St. Paul was specially active again and fairly led the movements of the day, its final loss being larger than that of any other stock. The market closed weak at about the lowest figures of the day. The list is almost invariably lower, but the majority show only slight losses, while St. Paul is down 1%, Atchison 1% and Missouri Pacific 1 per cent., Chesapeake & Ohio first preferred 21/2 and the second preferred 11/2.

Railroad bonds also showed a further falling off in the amount of business done while the same unsettled feeling prevailed as in stocks, resulting in an irregular market and final changes of great irregularity. The sales reached only $2.184,000, of which the Kansas & Texas seconds, the only active issue, furnished $475,000. These bonds retired slightly, but the most important movement was in Richmond & West Point fives, which sold down to 65 from 67 and Government bonds were dull and weaker and States neglected. Closing quotations

GRAIN AND OTHER PRODUCE.

Reports from Far Away Russia Have an Effect on the Grain Market. On'Change, yesterday, wheat was steady. corn and oats quiet. There were inspected in one car of wheat, seventeen cars of corn and one car of oats. Buyers for shipment noted that the market, early in the day. was firmer, and good shipments from the sea-board stimulated prices. Later the values weakened materially on reports of lower markets abroad. Wheat was especially weak, in sympathy with the report that the Russian ukase prohibiting exportation from that country was to be rescinded. Corn also declined in sympathy. Low-grade corn was in better de-

> ADVERTISING THAT PAYS Mr. Wanamaker's Advertising Manager Has Some Ideas on the Subject,

No matter what the nature of a community is, if a daily paper bas a chance at the people it sorts them out as certainly as if they were put through a mental sieve. The progressive, enterprising, wideawake, money-spending, life-enjoying citizen, wherever he is, is always hungry in the head-he wants a daily paper; he'll get one if he can.

The pinch-penny, slow-going, yesterday man; the too poor or the too mean to buy, are never in the daily newspaper proces-Put an advertisement before the readers of a daily paper and you take the cream of any population. You go straight home to the people who can buy and who are ready

That's one side of it. The other is the merchant's side. He, too, must be wide awake. There's no use in lugging a bide-bound business in a moss-grown way before such a constitu-There's a tendency to magnify the art and darken the mystery of advertising. I look upon an advertisement in its best form, most wisely placed, as simply the resuit of an exercise of common sense, based on experience. The public is credited with being moody, capricious, whimsical-almost anything that will excuse the miscarriage of an advertisement. But I never knew a really good advertisement of a worthy article to fail when put in a reasonably proper medium. On the other hand, I've known work that limped on every foot except sincerity to bring very satisfactory results. The truth is-and I cannot put it too strongly-the daily paper-reading public respond with marvelons promptness and mnanimity to any deserving advertisement.

Even if it is crude in form, awkward in expression, ragged in get-up, so there's a streak of honest thought and good intent running through it, all else is overlooked. To-day I'd rather have for a venture of my own a rugged, rocky, back-woodsy advertisement that shone with truthfulness and business point than a model of composition and display that was cynical and

How's This, Sir Edwin?

Boston Advertiser. Sir Edwin Arnold forgot that he was in Boston when he wrote as original, in an autograph album, a very pretty quadrain called "Life," running thus: Let us be like the bird, an instant lighted

Upon a branch that swings. She feels it yield, yet sings on unaffrighted, Knowing she bath her wings. Some one chanced to repeat it in presence of Miss Kate Sanborn, who instantly remarked that there was a surprising similarity between these lines and those of Victor Hugo:

Be like the bird, Who, halting in her flight Awhile on boughs too slight. Feels them give way beneath her and yet sings, Knowing that she has wings. It may be admitted that Sir Edwin's is the more musical setting, but the idea is unquestionably Victor Hugo's.

LITTLE WHEAT FOR SALE

At the Opening of the Chicago Board. After Which Grain Came with a Rush.

And from a Fair Advance the Leading Cereal Tumbled, Closing Lower than Wednesday's Last Figures-Little Change in Corn.

TRADING AT CHICAGO.

An Excited but Ragged Market Finally Became Weak and Featureless. CHICAGO, Jan. 14.-Wheat was rather nervous and subject to numerous fluctuations during the day. In the earlier part of the session the market was strong most of the time, but toward the close the feeling was one of weakness, accompanied by a decided decline, which left prices at the close considerably lower than yesterday's last figures. The early news was nearly all of a bullish character. The receipts showed a decided falling off at nearly all points here, in the Southwest and in the Northwest. A telegram stated that at forty-six stations in the Northwest the deliveries yesterday were less than six thousand bushels. While much of this was probably due to the severe weather, it had, nevertheless, a bullish influence on the trade. Cables were a little more favorable, Liverpool being quoted 4d up on futures, but other foreign markets showed very little improvement. Domestic markets were generally strong, and New York had liberal buying orders here. The continued severely cold weather in the West augmented the fears for the safety of the winter-wheat crop, and a sensational story published in a morning paper to the effect that there are thirty million bushels of unthreshed wheat in shocks and stacks in the Northwest, most of which will be ruined by snow, had some bullish influence. In addition to this the Cincinnati Price Current said that the crop estimate of the Department of Agriculture, issued a few days ago, made the aggregate too great. There was very little wheat for sale, the liquidation having been apparently very complete, and the buying was fair, both to cover side. Pardridge, Gifford and Lester were the most active sellers, and let go some big lines. There was a recession after the opening on later for-eign advices quoting weakness in prices, which caused free selling. "Shorts" took advantage of the situation to buy, causing a rally, but in the afternoon it was rumored that Russia was preparing to remove the wheat export prohibition, which caused another break. Then the market rallied again on free buying, but broke once to inside figures and closed easy. May opened excited and ragged, 91%c to 92%c being paid at about the same time in different parts of the pit, broke to 91%c, firmed up, weakened to 914c, rallied to 924se, broke to and closed at 91 sc. Corn was steady, with the feeling in clined to firmness, though there was no material change in values. The receipts were about forty cars below the estimate and contained only five of the contract grade, but the colder weather in prospect led to the hope that the grading would speedily improve There was little significance in the individual buying, and as a rule trade was slow and the market without much feature. Fluctuations were confined to a range of 4c, closing at the bottom and close to yesterday's last figures. Oats were quiet, steady and without feature.

Hog products opened without change and pork made a slight advance in th early trading in sympathy with wheat. The heavy receipts of hogs and free selling caused a weak feeling to follow, which prevailed during most of the remainder of the session. The close showed a loss, compared with yesterday, of 20c in pork, .05c in lard and .0712@.10c in ribs. Estimated receipts for to-morrow are Wheat, 144 cars; corn. 200 cars; oats, 140 cars; hogs, 42,000 head. The leading futures

MILLS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Cold Weather Will Seriously Curtail Their Present Rapid Grinding. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 14.-The Northwestern Miller says: There was only a small increase in the flour output last week, the shortage of water power tending to restrict operations. The week's production was 178,870 bris-averaging 29,811 bris daily-against 172,200 brls the previous week; 110,070 brls for the corresponding time in 1891 and 143,710 brls in 1890. Cold weather has had a still further unfavorable effect upon the water power, and even the five mills using water, in whole or part, are more or less handicapped. Sixteen mills were included in the operative list Wednesday, and they were grinding at the rate of 29,000 barrels daily. It is doubtful, however, if this gait be kept up for the six days. There appears to have been rather more demand for flour for a week back. At any rate, local millers seem to have come nearer selling their production for that period than for the week before. The larger concerns here report having made fresh sales equaling probably of last Thursday. Dispatches had previously been sent out by millers, making offers, and when counter offers came back. just as wheat took a three-cent drop from the effect of the government report, they were generally accepted. The domestic trade has been considerably better than foreign, and some very good sized orders have been booked within the week. The export trade is not very satisfactory, bids usually ranging so low for patents as to preclude their acceptance. A one-hundred-case order, however, is claimed to have been booked Monday. Baker's and low grades continue very slow of sale, particularly the latter, and they are now being shipped on consignment to a considerable extent by some parties. Prices are a shade lower. The export shipments last week were 78,-800 barrels, against 74,030 barrels the preceeding week.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 14.-May wheat opened at 87%c, an advance of %c over last night's closing price, and this gave considerable tone to the market at once. There was some downward fluctuation, but the tendency was for an advance. The trading was not active, and the price went down to 8714c, and then came back to the first price, and at the end of an hour advanced to 88c. It held for some time at this point, when a press dispatch an-nounced a repeal of the Russian wheat export decree was to be made for the port of Odessa. This caused a break, and be decline followed, notwithstanding that the authenticity of the dispatch was questioned. The correction came after the damage had been done. There was partial recovery on this announcement before noon. The cash market was active for No. 1 Northern, but the price had not recovered as much as futures. The average price today was 85 2c. > "EIGHING AN ELEPHANT. mer in Which Prince Mahrattas, indostan, Solved a Question. Young People.

About two hundred years ago there lived Prince of Mahrattae, in Hindostan, whose name was Shabjee. Princes are numerous in India, but this particular Prince was long remembered on account of his beneficence and great wisdom. He seems to have been the most learned prince of the time, and his advice and help were always sought in critical matters. Many stories are told of his ingenious settlement of difficulties, and some of them are certainly curious. Once a very high official in the court of Prince Shabjee made a vow that if he succeeded in a certain enterprise he would distribute to the poor of his district "the weight of his own elephant in silver." Elephants were highly prized by Princes, and each kept the largest and finest for his own use. The official's vow, if hasty, was generous, and perhaps the success of his undertaking was worth the

The undertaking succeeded; but the official, willing to keep his oath, was met by an unexpected difficulty. There was no possible way of finding the elephant's correct weight. No scales in the country were constructed of sufficient power to weigh such enormous beasts. Elephants were not sold by the pound, and no need had before arisen for scales to weigh them. All the learned and clever men of the court tried in vain to construct a machine of sufficient power to weigh the enormous beast. It did seem probable that the poor of Hindostan would have to get along without that silver. It is possible that the official had thought of this obstacle when he made the vow. Indians are crafty, and this one might have have been cunning enough to leave himself a loop-hole of escape to prevent parting with his money. But if any such notion had occurred to him, he was doomed to disappointment in the matter. The question was referred to Shabjee, as all such vexations questions were. And it did not take him long to find a very simple solution. That is always the way with true genius, you know. The solution it finds is so simple that every one cries out in wonder: "Why, of course! Why didn't somebody speak of that before? Shabjee commanded the elephant to be conducted along a platform into a flatbottomed boat which lay at the water-side. When the elephant was safely bound, he desired the attendants to mark upon the boat's side the exact height to which the water reached when the elephant weighed it down. Then the elephant was taken out, and stones substituted, until enough were loaded into the boat to bring it to the same water-line as when the elephant was the passenger.

Then the stones were weighed. If the scales could not hold all at once, part could be taken at a time, you see, and so the elephant's weight was correctly ascertained. It is safe to conclude that the poor of Hindostan finally got the silver. A prince so wise must have also been just. Whether the official who paid the money was quite satisfied history does not tell us; but we hope, for his charity's sake, he was, and as a full-grown elephant weighs several tons, the amount distributed among the poor of the district must have been very large.

Overheard by the Train-Boy.

Chicago Tribune. The train on the Fitchburg railway had ust entered the long tunnel and the young New England bridegroom whispered in the blushing ear of his fair bride: "Eurydice, if I choose, peradventure, to kiss thee I'd like to know Hoosac going to prevent me!

"Orphens," she replied gently, "thou shouldst not trifle thus with the 'tunnel good heavy grades; light 5@10c lower. All verities. And the roar of the train came like a mighty poultice to heal the blows of all Sheep-Receipts, 500; shipments, none. The market was weak to lower.
